

COMMITMENT STATEMENT

Quality

Clough AMEC values its reputation for successfully executing contracts to the complete satisfaction of our Customers. Collectively, we strive to continuously improve our performance by actively fostering the principles of:

Personal Responsibility

As individuals, we are personally responsible for ensuring that the culture and attitude of “getting it right first time” is supported and promoted for the benefit of the Company, our Customers and ourselves. All staff shall comply with applicable regulations, client quality standards, and requirements of the Clough AMEC Management System.

Accountability

At all levels in our organization, we are accountable for supporting the Company’s Quality Management System and participating in the audit and improvement processes required by the system.

Risk Management

We adopt a systems approach to management which recognises that better results are achieved through the process of identifying and managing risks, resources and activities. We are committed to ensuring that all projects meet agreed performance requirements, that internal project and office function audit programs are supported and fully implemented as scheduled, and that corrective and improvement actions are implemented within satisfactory timeframes.

Learning Culture

We are a client focused organisation that understands and strives to meet client expectations. Within our organisation, we embrace the process of ongoing improvement based on the factual analysis of data, comprehensive training and shared experience.

Continual Improvement

We understand and embrace the need to continually improve our business practices. Measurement against systems, processes and objectives supports consistency in our delivery and enables the identification of good practice, whilst providing us the means to identify opportunities for improving their effectiveness.

One Consistent Approach

We develop and implement a Clough AMEC Management System which is aligned with the requirements of AS/NZS ISO 9001, and apply these consistently across all of our operations.

The Clough AMEC Senior Leadership Team is accountable to the Clough AMEC Board for ensuring that this Commitment is implemented throughout Clough AMEC's operations. This Commitment will be reviewed annually.
